POETICAL WEDDING.

PICKED UP BY S. D.

MINISTER:

This woman wilt thou have,
And cherish her for life?
Wilt love and comfort her,
And seek no other wife?

HE:

This woman I will take,
That stands beside me now;
I'll find her board and clothes,
And have no other frow.

MINISTER:

And for your husband will
You take this nice young man;
Obey his slightest wish,
And love him all you can?

SHE:

I'll love him all I can;
Obey him if I choose,
And when asked for funds
He never must refuse.

MINISTER:

Then you are man and wife,
And happy may you be;
As many be your years
As dollars in my fee.

Selected Story.

THE TEST OF CHARACTER.

UNCLE HENRY," said Julia Denham, "may I see you in the library a moment this morning?"

"Certainly, my dear. I am at your command now," and he led the way into the room. He handed his niece to an arm chair, and took a seat opposite her.

"Uncle," said Julia, with a little becoming confusion, "I have received an offer."

"Whew!" exclaimed her uncle, "that is coming to the point with a vengeance."

"And I wish to consult you as to accepting it or not."

"A very sensible resolution. May I know from whom the offer has been received?"

"Edward Fitzroy."

"You haven't known him very long."

"Not—very," said Julia, slowly.

"But you think you know all about him, I dare say. Are you very much in love with him?"

"Not desperately," answered Julia, smiling. "At the same time I confess that I am strongly prepossessed in his favor."

"And this prepossession is likely to become a warmer sentiment. Well, my little niece, as you have requested my advice, I will give it. I do not object to this lover of yours. Indeed, I know nothing against him. But then I know too little of him at any rate to be able to form a deliberate opinion of his character. If I mistake not, this is also your case. Now it is my theory that no woman ought to marry unless she is sufficiently well acquainted with her intended husband, to have a pretty confident assurance of leading a happy life with him. I therefore counsel you to delay giving your answer for a month, and in that time I will contrive to become better acquainted with him."

"Your advice is good," said Julia, thoughtfully, "and I will follow it."

"Thank you," said her uncle, kindly, "for the confidence you have reposed in my judgment. I sincerely hope that the young man will prove to be all that we can desire."

Edward Fitzroy was in business in the neighboring city. He had embarked a small property, inherited from his father, in a dry goods establishment on Washington street, and having a good business tact was driving a flourishing trade. His acquaintance with our heroine had commenced during a summer residence at the village which she had made her home. It was not strange that he should have been attracted by Julia. Her gaiety, vivacity and beauty made her generally admired, and had anything else been requisite, the reputation of being her uncle's heiress would have procured her suitors. But it is not necessary to dwell farther on this point of our story. We are interested to learn how Uncle Henry's plans succeeded.

He first made cautious inquiries relative to the young man's business standing, all of which were answered satisfactorily. But this did not satisfy him. He wished to see for himself. Accordingly he purchased a suit of clothing so different from that which he was accustomed to wear, that, with a pair of green goggles super added, he felt convinced would disguise him sufficiently for his purpose. Thus attired he lounged into the store and inquired for some trifling article. He was purposely very slow in being suited. Meanwhile he watched with some attention the bearing of Fitzroy, who was trading with a fashionably attired lady at a little distance. Nothing could be more polite or obsequious than the conduct of the young tradesman. With unwearied assiduity he took down from the shelves and displayed a large stock of merchandise, until the fastidious taste of the lady was at length suited.

"He is attentive to his customers," thought Uncle Henry. "That is a good sign; but perhaps it may be simply because she is rich and fashionable. Here's a customer of a different kind; let me see how he treats her."

At this moment a woman, very poorly dressed, with a worn and weary expression, as if she were better acquainted with the dark than the bright side of life, entered the street door and advanced to the counter.

The affable smile which Fitzroy had worn in his interview with the last customer disappeared, and in its place was seen a supercilious glance.

"I would like to look at some calicoes," said the customer.

"Here are some," said Fitzroy, curtly, pointing to a pile which lay upon the counter.

He did not stir from his position, but gazed at the woman with an air which seemed to indicate how utterly indifferent he was to her patronage.

"Will you show me some of them?" asked the woman, mildly.

"There they are, ma'am; you can see them for yourself."

"What is the price of this?" she inquired, looking at the one which lay at the top.

"Ninepence a yard."

"I don't altogether like the figure," she said, after a pause.

"Don't you?" returned Fitzroy, indifferently.

The customer began to examine some of the other prints. Of course in doing so she was obliged to disarrange them somewhat.

"Don't pull them all to pieces," said Fitzroy, rudely. "There isn't much difference in them. You'd better take the first that comes. How much do you want?"

"Ten yards."

"Well, you had better let me cut it off, as I can't stand waiting on one customer all day."

Thus importuned, the woman hastily indicated one of the prints, and the required quantity was measured off. Change was hastily made and the woman departed. Her place was taken by a wealthy lady like the first, the rustle of whose silk proved an immediate passport to the good graces of the young merchant.

"I don't like that," thought Uncle Henry, who had not been unobservant of this little scene. "He has no right to treat one customer better than another. At all events, all ought to be treated with common civility, whatever their attire may be, or however small may be their purchase. These gloves are half-a-dollar, are they?" he said, addressing the shopman who was waiting upon him; "very well, I will take them."

Meanwhile the woman who had purchased the calico re-entered the store with a hurried step and a look of trouble. She waited until Fitzroy was through with the lady upon whom he was attending, and then pressed to the counter.

"Well, what now?" asked the young man, superciliously.

"I believe you made a mistake about the change you handed me."

"A mistake!" he repeated. "It is quite impossible."

"But," said the woman, anxiously, "don't you remember that I gave you a two dollar bill, and you only handed me back two quarters?"

"Wasn't that right?"

"No; I bought ten yards at ninepence a yard, which made but a dollar and a quarter."

"And you handed me a two dollar bill?"

"Yes, sir."

"Then I must have given you back three quarters."

"But, sir, it cannot be. I have only two."

"Oh, you'll find another in your pocket, if you haven't spent it," said Fitzroy, insolently.

The woman colored.

"Indeed, sir, I know I am right," she said, troubled.

"It is for your interest to," he said with a sneer.

"And you won't rectify the mistake then?" said the poor woman, faintly.

"You make a great fuss about a quarter of a dollar."

"It is of some importance to me," said the woman.

"I can't return it," said Fitzroy, shortly. "There is no end to the impositions that would be practiced upon me, if I allowed everybody to come back and claim that they had not received the right change."

Here Uncle Henry, who had listened with indignation to this scene, interfered.

"You are mistaken," said he, decidedly.

"I saw you hand this lady her change, and you passed her two quarters."

Fitzroy glanced at the speaker. It has not been mentioned that Uncle Henry, the better to conceal his identity, was coarsely dressed, and accordingly Fitzroy set him down as a person of no consequence. He therefore answered haughtily:

"I shall need more than your word, my good sir. How do I know but you are in league—"

"Good morning, sir," said Uncle Henry, abruptly. "You may hereafter regret this gratuitous insult. Madam, will you allow me a word with you?"

The woman followed him out of the shop, while Fitzroy, in no very pleasant mood, muttered about the "airs of those beggars."

"Madam," said Uncle Henry, when they were in the street, "will you accept from me this piece of gold, which will in a measure atone for this man's rudeness and your loss. Nay, no thanks. What I have witnessed has been worth more to me than this small sum."

At the end of a month, Edward Fitzroy came to receive Julia Denham's answer to his suit. He felt quite confident of success—a confidence which was somewhat diminished by the coldness with which she returned his greetings.

"I must decline the honor of your alliance," said she, in answer to his earnest proposal.

"But what can have wrought this change in you?"

"I must refer you to my uncle."

Uncle Henry, who entered the room immediately, explained in a few words in what way they had gained an unfavorable impression of his character. He concluded by saying:

"The man who is obsequious to the rich and impertinent to the poor, shall not with my consent marry one in whom I feel an interest."

A year afterwards Julia formed an alliance with one more worthy of her, and never had cause to regret adopting her uncle's test.

A Cupsuptuc Duck.

BY AL. BOLEY.

Just above Birch Island, a black duck passed us and dropped down into the tall grass at the head of the lake, before Ed., the Nimrod of the party, could draw bead on him. The delay in drawing bead seemed to be occasioned by Ed's indecision as to which end of the gun ought to go to the shoulder, or which side up the thing should be, or something of the sort. At any rate the duck was out of sight by the time he had got the right grip on the piece. But, nothing daunted, he laid down in the bow of the boat, with his gun rested on the rail, and ordered me to paddle softly toward the place where the duck disappeared, and added, that if we didn't make any noise, that duck was his. In a few moments he held up his hand for me to stop. I stopped, expecting every instant to hear the report of his gun, but instead, heard a short quotation of scripture. Then Charley remarked, "Why in thunder don't you cock your gun?" Ed. quoted more scripture and cocked the gun, took careful aim at a black object visible through the grass at about forty yards distance, and fired. The black object seemed not in the least disturbed. Ed. let go the other barrel, still the duck moved not. While he was reloading I shortened the distance about ten yards, when he blazed away again, with no better result. "By thunder!" he remarked "that's the toughest duck I ever came across. Put me up nearer and I'll take him with the other barrel when he flies." We slowly moved up to within fifteen yards, when we discovered the duck to be part of a charred stump. Ed's face lengthened; but he suddenly broke out with the assuring remark, that if it had been a duck, he would have had him sure, as he knew that thing was peppered full of shot. We examined the stump, but no sign of a shot could be found. Ed's boasting was ended for that trip, and the procuring of game devolved entirely upon the others of the party. Duck shooting on the Cupsuptuc is a dangerous subject to broach in his presence, although he yet persists that if it had been a duck, he would have had him sure.

PHONO. subscribers in SMALL CAPITALS.

Mr. L. L. Crouse, of Kingston, N. Y., the owner of the lease and camps at Bema Stream (since '77), has sold that resort to Messrs. Washburn, Andrews & Hayford, of the Buckfield & Canton R.R. Eben Hinkley, of Rangeley, has been employed to open the camps to the public and is already on the ground. This has long been known as one of the loveliest spots on the lakes, and in private hands the fishing privilege has been protected and improved by the former proprietor. Mr. Crouse will again make his headquarters at the Oquossoc Camp, Indian Rock, of which he is an old-time member.

Gov. Washburn, Mr. Andrews and Supt. Hayford, of the Buckfield & Canton R. R., visited their headquarters at Camp Bema, last week. Ex-Fish Commissioner Stanley was with them, and he "fished" the trout—one to four-pounders—to the number of 34 in one day. The way to get to that lovely spot is by Sandy River R. R. to Phillips, an easy stage with lovely scenery to the Rangeley Lake, and then across the same to the Big Lake with Capt. Howard, after which Capt. Fred Barkey sets you down at the shore of Bema in an hour and a half. That is the trip to make, for comfort, for speed and for pleasure. Don't forget it.

DR. KENNEDY would have it understood that, while he is engaged in the introduction of his medicine (Favorite Remedy) he still continues the practice of his profession, but confines himself exclusively to office practice. He treats all diseases of a chronic character, and performs all the minor and capital operations of Surgery. Parties living at a distance, except in Surgical cases, by sending a statement of their case, can be treated at home. Address Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. Make no mistakes. ### Maine People Abroad.

On my way from California, we stopped a few days in Chicago with one of the Pitts family, who left Winthrop, Maine, some 30 years since. The family consists of four brothers, son of the Mr. Pitts who invented the Pitts Threshing Machine, which has been so long in use in this and other States where wheat is raised. The four brothers still continue in the manufacture of this machine. Their works cover seven acres of land, and they employ over one hundred men. The proprietors are well educated, perfectly temperate, wealthy and social—just such men as Maine is and should be proud of.

I also met two young men raised in Phillips, sons of our old friend Rufus Brett, now of Farmington. They are in the dry goods house of Field, Settler & Co., who employ 735 men; whose floors cover 5 1-2 acres, and stowage about the same; sale, $20,000,000 per annum, in the wholesale department. In the retail business, 900 men, women and boys are constantly employed; amount of sales, $4,000,000; annual pay roll, both dep'ts, about $1,200,000 per annum. This concern is said to be second to only one in the United States—that of A. T. Stewart, N. Y.

SEWARD DILL.

Practical Hints.

Dear Readers.—My first experience of the above was when I saw my mother come up the steep bank of the Sandy with a bunch of sticks as large round as my little wrist. O, horror! what would she do? Could I escape? ah, no. Since then I look back, and though so far, I know the anguish that filled my sensitive heart. It has served as a check when I would mete out what is termed punishment, but may savor more of tyranny. The practice of love, as a guide, has taught my children that I would not hurt them, and now they have grown from childhood, will do nothing to hurt me. My first attempt to punish was met with, "It hurts! hurts! hurts!" That was enough. I could not steel my heart against the cry of those I loved best on earth. Mothers, your children are now helpless, may be. Don't be afraid you shall love them too much.—Above all, don't beat them for being weak; if you do the time may come when they will turn upon you. Live for them, and they will live for you.

Phillips. OCTAVIA RUSSELL.

The announcement of the coming to Farmington on Monday, June 28th, of the Great London Circus and Menagerie is creating an enthusiasm and interest seldom seen in this locality. Among the novelties announced is a team of ordinary working cattle, or oxen, which perform incredible feats of military drill, marching by right and left flank, building up pyramids on towering pedestals, teetering on boards, and leaping over one another with the agility of the stag. In their wonderful exhibition of culture no whip or other coercion is used, but the great brutes obey the voice of their teacher with a degree of intelligence equal to the horse. And these are but an infinitesimal portion of the overwhelming multitude of attractions.

World's Dispensary Medical Association, proprietors, Buffalo and London.

THREE THINGS
A thoughtful man once said that two things settle the question of our happiness or misery, viz.: Our relations to our Creator and to women. There is one more—our relations with our own blood in our veins. Impure blood will produce tumors. It did so in the case of Mrs. Walter Hinckley, of Cotuit, Mass. The doctors could do nothing for her. A neighbor brought from Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., a bottle of his "Favorite Remedy." She tried it and became better. "No woman," writes Mrs. H., "can afford to be without Favorite Remedy." It will cost you only One Dollar to make the experiment. The good result is sure. 241

It Makes No DRUNKARDS

Breaks no Hearts, Excuses No Crimes.

Dr. David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY is not a disguised enemy of the human race; where it cannot help, it does not harm. FAVORITE REMEDY is a combination of vegetable alteratives. It does not heat nor inflame the blood, but cools and purifies it. In all cases of Kidney troubles, Liver complaints, Constipation of the Bowels, and the delicate derangements which afflict women, the action of FAVORITE REMEDY is beyond praise. Thousands of grateful people voluntarily testify to this, in letters to Dr. Kennedy; and with a warmth and fullness of words which mere business documents and certificates never possess. It makes no drunkards—excuses no crimes—breaks no hearts. In its coming there is hope, and in its wings there is healing. We challenge a trial and are confident of the result. Dr. Kennedy would have it understood that, while he is engaged in the introduction of his medicine, "Favorite Remedy," he still continues the practice of his profession, but confines him exclusively to Office practice. He treats all diseases of a chronic character, and performs all the minor and capital operations of surgery. 4140

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

THE POSITIVE CURE

For All Female Complaints.

This preparation restores the blood to its natural condition, directs the vital power aright, strengthens the muscles of the uterus, and lifts it into its place, and gives it tone and strength, so that the cure is radical and entire. It strengthens the back and pelvic region; it gives tone to the whole nervous system; it restores displaced organs to their natural position. That feeling of bearing down, causing pain, weight, and back-ache, is always permanently cured by its use.

It will at all times and under all circumstances act in harmony with the laws that govern the female system.

For the cure of Kidney Complaints of either sex, this compound is unsurpassed.

OBITUARY.

When the sturdiest of our favorite grove is laid low, then it is the weaker are called into action. So with any community—when the strong men and those who have carried every interest by their superior force, are laid low, the lesser forces are brought into requisition, that justly earned enterprise wane not.

Our community, more than most others of its size, has oft felt the withering blast that has swept from our midst those whose active lives and indomitable energies have made this one of the living towns of Maine. We would not forget them.

M. W. Dutton, so familiar to all our people for more than thirty years, came down to the close of his active labors at an early hour Wednesday morning, June 16th, after several months of lingering, wasting disease.

Mr. Dutton was brought up in New Sharon, and came to Phillips about 1848, for a temporary purpose—that of teaching school; but soon engaged in the tanning business, later in the harness trade. Subsequently he went into trade, continuing in that for some ten years, and lastly engaged in the shoe business in which he continued till stricken with disease. Each of these different branches of business engaged his whole attention early and late, until both mentally and physically he yielded to disease and death, and in the midst of a useful life was removed from active duties and a fond and devoted family. Mr. Dutton's unquestioned integrity entitled him to the entire confidence and esteem of all with whom he had to do. He had long been identified with the Congregational Church; an example in temperance and moral reform. He had several times served as member of the board of Selectmen and in other places of trust. He was a devoted and honored member of Blue Mountain Lodge, of Free and Accepted Masons, and Past Master of the Lodge, into whose charge by request his remains were committed for consignment to their last resting-place. He was a member of the Masonic Relief Association, from which connection his worthy companion will receive one thousand dollars. Mr. Dutton's habits of industry and economy secured to his family a reasonable competency. He had buried two sons and a daughter, and leaves to mourn his loss the devoted companion of his youth, two daughters and a son, as also a large circle of friends and acquaintances who join in sympathy with the more closely bereaved.

W.

The Argus speaks of an "indirect assault."

Excelsior County Grange, P. of H.

The Excelsior County Grange met at Grange hall, in Phillips, by call of the Worthy Master Pinkham, Thursday a. m., June 17th. There was a large gathering of members from all parts of the County. After the Grange was opened, Bro. Z. A. Gilbert, Secretary of the Maine Board of Agriculture, was invited to address the meeting, which he did in a very pleasant manner.

After partaking of a basket picnic and a very pleasant time generally, the Grange listened to some good remarks by Bro. S. W. Keyes, of North Chesterville, upon co-operation.

The Committee on Applications reported 36 persons in waiting to take the 5th degree, and that degree was conferred upon the candidates.

A warm discussion was brought out on the presenting of the following question: "We, the members of the Excelsior Grange, do hereby pledge ourselves that we will not purchase fruit trees raised outside of the State of Maine, and we recommend appropriating not less than one-eighth of an acre to the raising of fruit trees, if we possess land adapted to the same, and recommend it to our brother patrons."

Bro. Gilbert was called upon and favored Maine grown trees, by clean culture, the seedling set and grafted in limbs. The town of Green last year sold $13,000 worth of apples; some land was now yielding $250 per acre from orcharding, all Maine set trees. He remarked that one company in this State had swindled thousands of dollars by having trees brought from abroad, set in this State in hot-beds of manure one year and then sold for Maine trees.

The resolution was almost unanimously adopted.

Voted to hold the September meeting with Aurora Grange. PATRON.

Mrs. Annina Nollett, of Portland, died on Tuesday morning last, after a long and very painful illness, aged 54 years, 4 months and 2 days. During the last years of her life she suffered intense pain, which continued to the last; yet she bore it all with Christian patience. She has left a great number of friends to mourn the loss. The record of her life has been a remarkable one in its energy, efficiency, kindness and the exercise of earnest Christian faith.

LEWIS B. REED, Esq., of New York, and lady, who have spent a fortnight at the Rock, took the train Friday morning for Bath, where they will spend the Sabbath with JOHN H. KIMBALL, Esq. Mrs. Reed will then visit Poland Springs for her health. Mr. REED has had good success in fishing, and is an agreeable gentleman withal.

We had a brief call, Thursday, from Mr. S. W. Keyes, of North Chesterville, an old-time friend of our sire. We are ever pleased to meet those who were playmates or friends of our respected dad, and enjoy their reminiscences.

WESTON LEWIS, Esq., of Boston informs us his 15 year old son, Weston K., caught from the Big Lake, May 27th, a trout weighing 6 1-4 lbs., and landed it unaided. A pretty good job for a full-grown fisherman.

The farmer with an iron heel still feels the necessity of enforcing the you, knit rule in the home circle.

We received the following interesting item in Tuesday's mail, with money enclosed, and are now awaiting the name and address of the new subscriber:

"Mr. Editor—Please send me the Phillips PHONOGRAPH as long as these few stamps will pay for it, and then stop sending it."

We met Mr. Joseph E. Davis, of Worcester, at the train Friday morning. He had been at the Rock, and captured between 100 and 200 pounds of trout.

Congress adjourned Wednesday.

Out-of-town Items.

FARMINGTON.—BY *—

Regarding the concert, mentioned last week, I would add, it requires long and patient practice to perform well such music as the Inflammatus, Marvellous Work, Prayer from Moses in Egypt, Gloria from Mozart's Twelfth Mass, and other works of such high musical character; and had more time been spent in rehearsals, the singing would have been still better than it was. A musical friend suggests that it would be much better if those who take the solos in such pieces would confine themselves to the music as it is written. While it may be admissible and perhaps proper to exercise ad libitum, within reasonable limits, in singing the light songs of the day, it is hardly to be supposed that our singers can improve upon the works of the masters, such as Mozart, Rossini and Hayden. It is as if some clever amateur should attempt to improve upon Raphael's masterworks of paintings.

Chas. W. Keyes, 2d, sometimes is found in Hubbard's drug store. A few evenings since Horn had a sick horse, and called for 2 oz. oil of juniper. K. put it up.—Horn asked him if he was sure it was right, and he said he was. He gave it to the horse and it proved to be oil of cedar. The whole neighborhood had all they could do to save the life of the horse.—Charley probably intended an item for his uncle, but he overloaded.

STRONG.—BY C. E. N.

Saturday, June 12th, the Normal excursionists made a short stay at our village. Headed by the band, they visited the wire bridge and J. W. Porter's steam mill. At the latter place they provided themselves with clothes-pins and excelsior, as appropriate and touching mementoes of the trip.

Sunday, June 13th, was observed as "Children's Sunday," at the Congregational church. The house was prettily decorated. Both churches united in the service. Addresses were made by the pastors and by the Rev. Mr. Lamson, of Mass.

There is a vague rumor floating around, that we are to have "4th of July" here.

NOTES BY &amp;.

Miss Minnie Stinchfield, is giving very general satisfaction in our village school. She is one of our local teachers, and has acquired an enviable reputation as a teacher in North Franklin and N. Somerset Counties.

The Quarterly meeting of the Methodist Church will be this Saturday p. m. and Sunday. Preaching Saturday p. m. and Sunday, 10.30 a. m. and 1 p. m.

Josiah Mitchell, for many years one of the Deputy Sheriffs of Franklin County, but now of Auburn, is visiting his aged parents here.

S. L. Balkam is closing out his stock in trade, preparatory to leaving town.

Miss Eva Kempton, is teaching the school at New Vineyard Village.

NEW SHARON.—BY S.

Mr. G. F. Teague and family, left town Thursday morn, 10th, for Ashland, Mass. He has been in the employ of the Warren Thread Co. for the past year, and now he takes his family to make a permanent stop. They leave many warm friends.

W. W. Norcross, has moved into the Swift store, which has been thoroughly repaired, and is now a very nice, convenient store.

Miss Martha Wyman, who has been teaching school in Brockton, Mass., for the past two years, is at home on a vacation.

Water is very low in the river and business by water will have to be suspended very soon, unless we have heavy rains.

Mr. Manter is making thorough repairs on the brick store, and will make a very desirable location for trade.

T. R. Fletcher had a raising of a large sheep barn, and they had "a little more cider," too.

Whooping cough is very prevalent among the children on the south side of the river.

GREENVALE.—BY J. H. T.

The spring term of school closed during my stay at this beautiful part of creation. A picnic in the grove near the school-house was the closing scene. The writer was invited as one of the eaters. While looking over the board and seeing three times the amount of choice food that the company were capable of devouring, I thought of the PHONOGRAPH man—alas! too far away. The teacher—Miss Sarah Toothaker, of Phillips—wishes the following names printed in your paper as scholars neither absent nor dismissed during the term of school: Elsie Abbott, Tryphonia, Lillian and Clark Smith, Myrtle and Elmira Spaulding.

I happened to be at the Greenvale house a short time ago; fishermen were plenty.

Crops are looking first best; in everything one could see signs of life.

CARTHAGE.—BY WILL.

The Androscoggin and Oxford Advent Christian Conference met at the Newman school-house Thursday evening, June 10, and held over Sunday. There were seven preachers present, and a well-filled house at all the meetings. A baptism took place Sunday, and another will occur on the 4th. Also, the 27th, at Berry's Mills.

Our people met Saturday to fix the grounds for the church.

J. M. Gatchel is to build the Union church for $800.

Elder Starbird has moved his family to Berry's Mills.

AVON BY D.

A company has been formed, under the title of the Phillips Granite Co., for the purpose of working the Avon quarries. Most of the business is to be done in Phillips. This company have on hand work enough to employ five or six men till winter.

A bell upon the granite ledge will ring just before blasting. The quarry being so near the road, renders this a necessary precaution, and teams can take warning thereby.

MADRID.—BY E.

Miss Miley Berry, only unmarried daughter of Seymour Berry, died the 5th inst., after an illness of only a few days. Miss Berry was a young lady of irreproachable character, loved by all who knew her. Her laughing eyes and pleasant smile carried sunshine wherever she went. She will be sadly missed by all. The bereaved family have the sympathy of the whole community.

RANGELEY.—BY QUIZ.

Weather warm and pleasant.

Lots of fishermen and pleasure-seekers at all the hotels.

Mr. Charles Hoar recently had his leg broken between the thigh and knee, and received other injuries. He is now doing nicely.

A Sunday School Picnic, the 4th, is expected.

The Farmington Normals, with the Strong Band, visited this place last Saturday. The band did itself credit.

Local Notes.

—Strangers—For the cards of leading Hotels and Summer Resorts, see 5th and 8th Pages.

—That lap-robe has been returned.

—Ice formed at Rangeley last Tuesday night.

—The time on 10-cent subscriptions has now expired.

—Gen. G. W. Clark, of New Vineyard, is in town to-day.

—Franklin County Medical Association meets here Thursday, 24th.

—J. H. Conant, of Strong, has a buck which sheared the second clip, 22 lbs.

—A Republican caucus will be held this (Saturday) evening, at the town house.

—Frank Chick, of Madrid, is kindly remembered for a generous mess of trout.

—IRA PLAISTED places us under at least two pounds of obligations—offishly speaking.

—When in town, call and look over Hayden's stock of dry and fancy goods—best stock in town.

—There was quite a frost Thursday morning, which nipped the tender plants in some localities.

The Republican County Convention meets at Farmington, July 1st. Greenback ditto, July 3d.

The 4th of July, or a day very near it, will be observed in Phillips. The Farmington Band is engaged.

—A gentleman who knows, says our advertising rates are the most reasonable to be obtained in the county.

—Dr. Kimball, having formed a co-partnership, with Dr. Winter, wishes all old accounts settled immediately.

—Another prominent citizen of Phillips gone—M. W. Dutton, aged 59, died Tuesday night, at midnight, after a long and varied illness.

—Among the prominent Grangers in Town, Thursday, we noticed Hon. Z. A. Gilbert, of East Turner, well known in agricultural circles.

—We had the pleasure of meeting our venerable friend David Cargill, Esq., Thursday. He is from Livermore Falls, formerly of Augusta.

—We received a communication this week, written upon a postal card, and the card was nicely enclosed in an envelope on which was a three-cent stamp!

—We have an agricultural friend of much experimental knowledge, who will answer all inquiries regarding agriculture propounded through our columns.

—New advertisements this week are, $100 reward offered for sheep killers; auction sale of cheese factory property; carriages for sale, and a legal notice.

—That will be a busy week, with a circus Monday, Republican County Convention, and Saturday Greenback Convention and mass meeting, with a few celebrations thrown in.

—The Farmington Methodist excursion to Phillips, Thursday, was a grand success, about 400 participating. They had a grand time, and many favored our office with a call.

—Go to Hayden's and buy your shetland shawls; selling all the way from 85 cts., $1.00, $1.25 to $3.00. Also your black silk fringes. He has the best line in Phillips, and prices lower than the lowest.

—We have not space or time for publishing the hotel arrivals for the past week. The Barden House had one hundred and twenty-three names upon the register, since those published last week. Many of them were local.

—Small boys on our streets have given up the pleasure of whistling. The "Echo" and "Dawn" have a monopoly in the article, and now furnish enough for the whole town. Their trials seem to be to see which can hold its breath and whistle the longest, as they enter town. Cut off a yard or two, for tape, especially in the night. O, yes; it sounds perfectly splendid; but then, we all have got so used to it that we can at once tell it from the cry of the bears which roam about our door-yards!

—The Selectmen have laid out two roads to the depot, and a town meeting will probably be held about June 26th.

—The funeral of M. W. Dutton occurred at the Union Church, Friday afternoon, under management of the Masons, Rev. Mr. Pratt, of Strong, conducting the services. A large company of mourning friends were present.

—The following explains itself:

AVON, June 15th, 1880.

This is to certify that I, William L. Taylor, do say that Charles Chase, of New Vineyard, was my accomplice in stealing the Harvey Wait colt, of South Boston, out of Mr. Irish's pasture in Avon, in 1879, and no one else was concerned.

WM. L. TAYLOR.

Witness—B. B. Harvey, Elisha Bradford, Fernando Taylor.

—The second meeting of all interested in a proper celebration of July 4th, will occur at the Town house Saturday evening, at 7 1-2 o'clock. Our citizens propose to celebrate the second anniversary of breaking ground for the Railroad, to commemorate the glorious day, and have a celebration worthy of the name. The Farmington band has already been engaged. Let there be a good attendance at the meeting.

Among all the unprecedented and uncommon wonders of the age is the gigantic combination of the dozen or more first-class shows boiled down into the title of the Great London Circus. Cooper, Bailey & Co., proprietors; and its advent in Farmington, Monday, June 28th, is an event looked forward to with unusual interest by everybody. Its herd of fifteen Elephants, and the sucking baby Elephant and its proud parents, the now famous electric light, the tremendous consolidated menagerie of half a hundred well-filled cages, and the exhaustless catalogue of circus celebrities, make up a programme of surpassing excellence. Its coming is certain to be greeted with such an outpouring of the populace as was never before witnessed in this locality.

THE WOMEN AT HOME.

Our mothers, wives and daughters! Home is not home at all without them. Yet they may die and leave the house silent and sad any day. Husbands and fathers, a word in your ear. The ladies are not always to blame when they are low-spirited and "cross." They are sick. Don't you be fools or brutes and think they'll come out all right if you are only "firm" and mean yourselves. Put a bottle of Dr. David Kenney's Favorite Remedy on the shelf, and tell them to use it. The color will come back to the cheeks and the laugh to their lips. Go and get it at once down town, or mail One Dollar to the Doctor's address at Rondout, N. Y. 241

P. W. FARMINGTON, Feb. 5, 1880.
MESSRS. P. W. HUBBARD & Co.:—I have used the PEOPLE'S FAVORITE VEGETABLE TONIC BITTERS for the past three years. ## The Barden House, Phillips, Me., Samuel Farmer, Proprietor.

THE BARDEN HOUSE has for many years been the principal hotel in Phillips, and is within two minutes' walk of the depot; second door from Post office, Telegraph and Printing offices; one door from Barber shop, and in the very heart of the business portion of the village, where everything is kept to supply parties going to the Lakes, and thus affording far greater conveniences than any other hotel in town. The present proprietor, for the last seven years, claims to have come as near giving entire satisfaction to his patrons as any hotel in Maine. And now that the Telegraph and Railroad are completed from Farmington to Phillips, which at first were wholly due his own personal efforts, and having labored hard and spent much money to secure these benefits to the public, truly feels he has a claim upon the traveling public for patronage, provided he furnished everything first-class, which he is bound to do and at low prices as any similar hotel in the country.

Mr. Farmer is also proprietor of the stage route from Phillips to the Rangeley Lakes, and has contracted with the different Railroad Companies to carry all passengers holding Excursion Tickets to the Rangeley Lakes and return, and for that purpose has fitted up two very comfortable four-horse, covered, Mountain Wagons, besides other two and one-horse teams; he is prepared to take all classes, through to the Lakes, either in the evening or morning, as it suits their convenience. Also kind and gentle teams, with competent guides to wait upon all who stop in Phillips to rusticate or fish the trout-brooks.

Parties wanting private teams to go through to the Lakes, will find it to their advantage to secure them of Mr. Farmer, as he has means of taking them back free of expense.
